Clever Young Englishman Settles Once and for All the Question of Which Is the Better Man-"Durable Dane" Fails to "Come Back" as His Friends Had Predicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Battling Nelson of Hegeswich, Ill., will no longer menace the lightweight belt. For the first time in his fightling career the 'Durable Dane,' the once great pugilist, was knocked out today beyond all dispute by Owen Moran, the sturdy lad from Birmingham, England, in the presence of one of the largest crowds of spectators ever assembled at a glove contest in this city. Moran knocked Nelson out in the eleventh round of a scheduled 20-round event, his victory being clean and leaving no room for argument as to his complete victory over the one time champion. But he was compelled to drop Nelson five times in this round, for despite the force of the Briton's right-hand punches on the point of the chin, the wonderful round. Moran Turns a Handspring.

When Nelson, with bowed head, rushed into close quarters. Moran flung his right forward, catching Nelson fungh is right forward, catching Nelson fu the point of the chin, the wonderful fighting spirit of the Dane was ever present. One second after the final count had been tolled off and Referee Ben Sellg above the din shouted, "You're out; Moran wins," Nelson was on his feet, with blood streaming from his mouth and nostrils, loudly importunity the referee to permit him to continue Nelson Forced the Fight. Moran throughout, from the first tap of the gong, proved himself com-plete master of the situation, and there was not one round of the 11 fought which could be accredited to Nelson. The Dane was always the aggressor, his evident intention being to force Moran to fight close. In this he was accommodated, but the battle was scarcely two rounds old be-fore Moran showed that he, too, could fight at the Battler's own game. the end of the last period of play. The kick almost broke the Army's before them, the Army stuck to it and did not show the white feather.

Victory Deserved.
The Navy deserved the victory, for the Midshipmen put up a sterling game and outplayed the cadets from the initial kick-off down to the instant when Field Judge Fultz threw up his hand and declared the contest at an of Dalton's seven attempts at goals from the field three were made from the 30-yard line, the last of which succeeded; one from the 19-yard line, one from 26 yards and another from 39, and one mighty effort 51 yards from the Army goal. All but three carried to the goal line, but the stiff wind from the northwest carried the ball to ball consistently.

Navy's Defense Great.

The midshipmen played a fine offensive game, and there were few times through the 60 minutes of action that the midshipmen did not have the cadets on the defensive.

The game will go down in football annals of West Point as one of the cleanest and best ever played between the institutions. It was fought before one of the largest crowds that ever gathered on Franklin field. Every stand was taxed to its capacity, the private boxes were filled and a crushing mass of people choked up the promenade that surrounded the four sides of the gridiron.

In the boxes were many figures familiar in society circres of Washington, New York and Philadelphia. So far as could be observed, Secretary of the Navy Meyer was the only mem-ber of the cabinet present. He rooted hard and successfully for the navy surrounded by a host of friends in the north stand, where the midshipmen shouted themselves hoarse for their

The box reserved for Mr. Dickinson and been turned over to the friends whom the secretary had invited, but most of them, out of respect to the lead of the war department, did not good to the Navy and proved to be cufficient to win the game.

It was a pretty kick, square between the goal posts and was made toward large yellow chrysanthemums, made a brilliant and animated picture. The six companies of cadets, in their long, heart, but true to the traditions of the gray coats and capes, and the 12 com-teams that have fought for West Point; panles of midshipmen, in navy blue uniforms, made a fine appearance as they marched across the field prior to the beginning of the game. The bands preceding the soldierlyoking boys played lively tunes, and at the sight of the future officers of the army and navy cheer after cheer Mascot Brings Luck. The Navy goat was on hand, but for some reason the old Army mule was not to be seen.

The nearest that either side came to oring a touchdown was in the sectic midshipmen on the north stand, but just as the teams set themselves for a mighty effort up went the timer's hand the period was over. After Dalton's kick that won the game, his teammates hugged him and danced about with delight, while the midshipmen in the stands sent up an awful din with their megaphones.

Score Now Even. The record between the two insti-lutions stands seven victories each and one tie. Following the close of the game, there was the same kaleidoscope pilture that has followed previous Army-Navy games. The 600 midshipmen assembled in midfield, formed a circle and rushed to the colors as the Navy band added to the din by blaring out natriotic music.

After the celebration was over, the victorious midshipmen marched off the field, singing "The Star-Spangled "A show worth double the money" is the way the management announced the new bill that opens for the week at the Orpheum tonight. It cer-tainly has the looks of being one of these sparkling programs, bub-bling over with fun and good things. The large Sunday night audience will sure get the treat of the season when the curtain goes up tomorrow night.

The Neapolitans, is a trio of grand opera soloists, the Misses Estelle Ward and Marion Littlefield and Sig. Francesco Manetta, Miss Ward is a colorature soprano of splendid range and quality, and Miss Littlefield a contralto who has attracted wide attention in eastern operatic circles, while Sig. Manetta is a tenor of unusual ability. The three render popular classics ranging from the Barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman" to Anchi's "Neapolitan Serenade" and a potpourri of Neapolitan Folk Songs.

ing of Miss Meyers as the maid is a distinct feature of this lively offering, while Miss Warren as the prima donna, and Mr. Lyon as a former sweet heart of hers, are particularly good.

The Joseph Adelmann Family a trouple of musicians recently arrived from Europe, will furnish a pleasing musical feature. The act is divided into two parts, the first being musical scenes from old Nurremberg, during which they play upon a number of children's instruments, while the second part is a revelation in xylophone playing. Mile, Adelmann, appearing with the act, is most chic as "The Little Drummer."

Swor and Mack are a couple of clev er imitators of the Southern negro, whose realistic imitation of that character, new songs and witty dialect, form a pleasing and laughable offer-

Neuss and Eldred have something really new to offer in the acrobatic line. Their act is entitled "THE YAP-HANK NATIONAL GUARDSMAN, which is a laugh from start to finish Seated calmly in a miniature aero-plane, which might be a pocket edi-tion of Curtiss' famous machine, one of the military heroes gets everyone laughing by the amusing way in which he soars across the stage for his en-trance. This is followed by equally funny and original stunts on the part of the two "Soldiers" that tend to give a pleasing close to an altogether entertaining act.

The Balzars, comedy conjurers, who came direct from London's big play-house, the Hippodrome, do mystical and mystifying things for laughing pur poses only, and while many of their manipulations are skillfully devised there is always a surprising expose at the end to amuse the audience. This act plays America for twenty weeks only, exclusively in Orpheum theatres, after which they return to Europe to play a two weeks' contract on the con tinent.

New motion pictures and an excellent musical program by the fine Or-pheum Orchestra will complete the new bill, which will be pronounced to be the best of the season.

In an opinion by the supreme court handed down Friday, it is decided that the Ogden Rapid Transit company does not have to stop its cars at Lewis's resort in Ogden canyon, Last summer J. D. Skeen, of Lewis's resort, applied to 'he district court in Weber county for a writ of mandate directed against the street car company, compelling the company to stop its cars at the Lewis resort for the convenience of passengers. Judge Howell issued a peremptory writ, from which the company appeal ed. The supreme court holds that the lower court was not justified in issuing the order, and the decision is reversed. The opinion is written by Justice Frick, with Chief Justice Straup and Justice McCarty concur-

The legal battle grew out of the action of the Ogden Rapid Transit company in refusing to stop its cars at the Lewis resort in the canyon, where several families camp during the summer months. The camp is between Peery's resort and the Hermitage, at both of which places the railway has maintained stops.
